

Cox Communications expands Homelife Care nationwide to support seniors during Coronavirus pandemic

Homelife Care offers 24/7 monitoring in and out of home, two-way communication via a mobile hub device, an automatic fall detection pendant and family app

ATLANTA – (May 19, 2020) – The Coronavirus pandemic places our senior community in even greater danger of isolation and health risk. In an effort to provide extra peace of mind and support for seniors and their caregivers during this Coronavirus pandemic, Cox is making Homelife Care available nationwide following a successful two-year trial in Oklahoma City.

Homelife Care is 24/7/365 professional monitoring protection in the home and on the go, for any emergency, including a two-way communication Mobile Hub device, an Automatic Fall Detection Pendant, and a Family App with valuable features including a daily check-in prompt, medication reminders and emergency notifications to keep caregivers up to date.

Homelife Care provides seniors with a life-saving connection to monitoring professionals and their caregivers get the visibility they need to monitor and support them from wherever they are.

For more information about Homelife Care, visit the website here.